Clay's Corner

I have been under the weather most all week. Wednesday morning saw me early up with fits of coughing, headache, and body aches. As a result, all the things I had intended to do early in the week have not gotten done; my weekly article is one of those things that fell by the wayside. So as I searched my weakened mind for one of the myriad of things running through it that I might share with you, I decided to share with you this thought from Spurgeon's morning devotions. I hope you enjoy it as much as I did.

*"Just, and the justifier of him which believeth."
— Romans 3:26*

Being justified by faith, we have peace with God. Conscience accuses no longer. Judgment now decides for the sinner instead of against him. Memory looks back upon past sins, with deep sorrow for the sin, but yet with no dread of any penalty to come; for Christ has paid the debt of His people to the last jot and tittle, and received the divine receipt; and unless God can be so unjust as to demand double payment for one debt, no soul for whom Jesus died as a substitute can ever be cast into hell. It seems to be one of the very principles of our enlightened nature to believe that God is just; we feel that it must be so, and this gives us our terror at first; but is it not marvelous that this very same belief that God is just, becomes afterwards the pillar of our confidence and peace! If God be just, I, a sinner, alone and without a substitute, must be punished; but Jesus stands in my stead and is punished for me; and now, if God be just, I, a sinner, standing in Christ, can never be punished. God must change His nature before one soul, for whom Jesus was a substitute, can ever by any possibility suffer the lash of the law. Therefore, Jesus having taken the place of the believer—having rendered a full equivalent to divine wrath for all that His people ought to have suffered as the result of sin, the believer can shout with glorious triumph, "Who shall lay anything to the charge of God's elect?" Not God, for He hath justified; not Christ, for He hath died, "yea rather hath risen again." My hope lives not because I am not a sinner, but because I am a sinner for whom Christ died; my trust is not that I am holy, but that being unholy, He is my righteousness. My faith rests not upon what I am, or shall be, or feel, or know, but in what Christ is, in what He has done, and in what He is now doing for me. On the lion of justice the fair maid of hope rides like a queen.

PRAYER UPDATES

Ty Brooks (Winegearts' grandson) is out of the ankle boot. The doctor prescribed three weeks of physical therapy.

Cruz Flores is suffering with a sinus infection.

Birkley Havel (Linds' granddaughter) encountered a severe case of allergies, which caused a lot of swelling around her eyes.

Herb and Nelle Hahn both had echograms and are awaiting the results of those tests.

Victoria Johnson continues to struggle with lingering health issues, which seem to have been aggravated by some of the medical testing done last week. At times, the pressure in her neck can make it feel hard to breathe.

Justen Lawrence should be able to come home in a couple of weeks. He moved to room 4C 33 (Methodist Children's, San Antonio).

Patsy Watson (Victoria Johnson's mother) is having outpatient surgery this Tuesday, Sept. 29 to correct a deviated septum (inside the nose).
